A HEAVY WEIGHT.

The Fat Woman who Tips the Scale at 725 Pounds.

The Ex-Skeleton's Mountainous Wife—Her Great Delicacy of Feeling—Professional Ethics.

(Philadelphia Press, November 22.)

A great shadow was lifted from Frankford yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. The 725 pounds of flesh that make up the ponderous anatomy of Hannah Battersby, the famous fat woman, was moved, in a strong-seated car, to New York, to fulfill a four-weeks' and possibly an entire winter's engagement, in a Bowers museum of curioesities. Like all large bodies, Mrs. Battersby moves slowly, and began to make her preliminary traveling arrangements last night, when called upon by a reporter to whom she bade a mountainous adieu! The appointments of the fat woman's little home on Unity street, Frankford, are adapted throughout for her enormous size in the way of double-seated, big-legged chairs, substantial sofas, and strong settees. The house itself has a solid appearance, and with its well braced stairway, stout floor joists, and wide doorways, seems especially intended for its elephantine mistress, who, until the present time, has spent her winters there in domestic happiness with her husband, the living Skeleton. That bag o' bones, however, has unfortunately fattened out of the skeleton line of business, and is simply a very small half of his heavy spouse, whom he adores with all the ardor that his present avocation of 120 pounds will admit of. "I have been home just four weeks," said Mrs. Battersby, as she came with a smile and waddle from the kitchen to the cosy dining-room, "and have seen one of the most successful seasons 'on the road' that have been known in the show business for years."

STARTLING INDEED. The reporter, with an inquisitive search for knowledge, took a trip around the mountain of flesh, and arrived at the starting point just as Mrs. Battersby sank, with a quarter-ton grace, upon a long and wide settee, and in this position her abnormal proportions were well exhibited.

The Living Skeleton, who had deserted his forge, where he superintends the employment of a couple of blacksmith's helpers, had himself wheeled into the house in his perambulator when made aware of the fact that a reporter was visiting his wife. He seated himself comfortably on the four inches of space between his wife and the edge of the settee, and immediately became invisible. A hand stretched forth in occasional gesticulation, and a voice that seemed to come from the region of the big woman's stomach were the only evidence of his presence while the interview lasted.

"When I arrived at the West Philadelphia depot, on my return home four weeks ago," said the fat woman, "I had hard work to squeeze out of the car door, and then they had to open that big sliding gate intended for the passage of baggage trucks, to let me out of the place where the train stops. I couldn't go out at the gate with the small people."

"No," said the voice on the off side of the monstrosity, "she couldn't, she couldn't, and I am glad of it. If my life is spared I hope to catch up with Hannah some day, but they'll find out the place where the train stops. I couldn't go out at the gate with the small people."

AN UNFOUNDED RUMOR.

"Is there any truth, Mrs. Battersby," queried the reporter, "in the rumor that while you were in the upper berth of a sleeping-car you fell through and crushed an unfortunate Presbyterian minister into an unrecognizable mass?" With a hearty laugh the fat woman answered in the negative. "I never occupy an upper berth, you may depend," said she, "and I always look out that the lower one is strong enough to hold me. As a general thing, when I am traveling, I have a berth built expressly for me. No, strange as it may seem, I never fell on any one, nor crushed either minister or sinner. Sometimes, when I get angry, I give impudent people a knock-down. I recollect, while in a western mining town, a young fellow came up with a two-foot rule to measure me across the shoulders. I just took it away from him, broke it in half, and threw the pieces in his face. Another time a young man attempted to measure the width of my back while I was sitting in a chair on the stage, and I tilted the chair over on top of him. He didn't try any more measurement business. Some people imagine that, because they pay their money to see me, they can insult me with impunity, but they'll find out their mistake some of these fine days, for I'll be tempted to—to yes, sir, I'll sit down on somebody!"

"Do you still claim to be the largest fat woman in the world?" asked the reporter. "Excuse me, sir," was the reply given, with as much an appearance of freezing dignity as one possessing so much warmth-giving adipose tissue is capable of, but I do not recognize the title. I am said to be the large 'large lady' on exhibition, but comparisons are 'ojoes,' and I don't care to speak of any of the large ladies now traveling around the country. It would only produce ill-feeling among friends. The best way is to see and judge for yourself," and the ponderous speaker bowed back into the kitchen, making the floor tremble beneath her elephantine tread.

The government instructions to American ministers in Chile and Peru will soon be made public.

The Cameron wing of the Pennsylvania Republicans are showing their hand in the present administration.

Judge Folger says it was an escaped dropper who gave certain valuable Treasury points to Wall street operators before he had ordered them officially posted.

NOT INSANE, BUT AN ACTOR.

It will be admitted that the defense in the Guiteau case have introduced some very strong testimony sustaining the plea of insanity. Still it is apparent to every observing citizen that the great mass of evidence in the case shows that the prisoner is undoubtedly of sound mind, but is slightly "cranked" on his own importance, and is decidedly fanatical on the subject of notoriety.

Some of the recent testimony in the trial has developed the fact that the assassin has always claimed that he would make himself notorious, and one of the witnesses of the past few days even swore that Guiteau had on one occasion stated to him that he would make himself known even if he had to imitate the example of Booth, and kill some great man.

The ever popular insanity dodge has been shown to be a sham. He has shown himself to be shrewd and calculating, and has evinced the most remarkable dramatic powers. To show what impression the stage abilities of Guiteau have produced on the theatrical fraternity, the opinion of a leading actor of New York is appended. To a Washington reporter, Mr. Harris, of the Mary Anderson troupe, said:

"Guiteau is not insane, but he is a remarkable actor. To be sure, he has the advantage of realistic surroundings and in acting for his life, but still he deserves credit for his cleverness. He has not, perhaps, brains enough to be insane, but certainly sufficient to be a very dangerous eccentric. One strong evidence against the idea of insanity is the fact that he grows weary at times, and rests himself, just as a man on the stage does. Now, fatigue is something utterly unknown to a man who is insane. The brain of an insane man is never weary. This fellow, Guiteau, nurses himself up to his acting point, either by pretending to write or by hiding himself behind a newspaper which he pretends to read. It is much easier to act where everything is real than where everything is advertised as artificial, as on the stage and in a play."

The recent dreadful holocaust at Vienna more than parallels the Brooklyn theatre fire of several years ago. The latest dispatches convey the sad intelligence that over one thousand persons perished in the flames. The fire originated on the stage and swept rapidly over the auditorium, leaped the galleries and surrounded the various exits, cutting off all means of escape. Before any relief measures could be devised hundreds of people were suffocated, trampled and burned to death. The scene as described by eye witnesses was fearful, and exceeded anything of the kind that has occurred during the last decade.

Even since the inauguration of Arthur the enemies of Secretary Blaine have been circulating the report that that gentleman was endeavoring to retain his place under the present administration. While it would be no discredit to the eminent New Englander to remain in the Cabinet, still a good many gossips may be relieved by the recent statement of President Arthur to the effect that Mr. Blaine has all along desired to retire from the Cabinet, and was only prevented from doing so by the President's personal request.

The Times is in the same predicament as the little boy who couldn't eat any more plum pudding. The demand on our space for advertising purposes has been so great, in view of the approaching holidays, that we couldn't "hold" as much local, telegraphic and editorial matter as we desired. This will account for the small type and crowded condition of our inside pages. But still we are not disposed to find a great deal of fault with our misfortune.

THE CANNON-CAMPBELL CONTEST.

Mr. Cannon, of Utah, the six-wired polygamist, stands a good chance of going back to his Rocky Mountain home before a great many days elapse. The fact that the Republicans of the House have announced their intention of supporting the claims of the Gentle Campbell is enough to spike Mr. Cannon; but his doom is made more certain by the reported determination of a number of Democratic members to use their influence and votes against him. While it makes but little difference to the country at large, or even to Utah, whether Mr. Cannon or Mr. Campbell receives the contested seat, still the agitation of this matter promises much from the direct interest that it will create in Congress on the Mormon question. The fact is becoming more evident every day that national legislation is necessary to stamp out this terrible evil of polygamy, and the sooner Congress is awakened to the point of giving such legislation the better it will be for the whole country. If the Cannon-Campbell contest will result in the speedy suppression of America's standing disgrace, the nation will certainly be grateful, and Mr. Campbell will make for himself a name that will last through all time.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

A Wide-Awake Paper.

[Stockton Herald.]

Los Angeles has a new morning paper, the Times. It starts out a wide-awake journal, with a healthy look about it that inspires hope with the belief that it will meet with that degree of appreciation which will make its life a long and useful one.

Appeared.

[S. F. Bulletin.]

The Los Angeles Daily Times has made its appearance in the field of journalism.

STATE AND COAST NEWS.

There was a heavy shock of earthquake felt at Eureka on the 9th.

Lewiston, T. T. millers pay 51 cents per bushel for Sound wheat.

Athanasius Pryor dropped dead while on duty in the New York Hill mine, Grass Valley, Tuesday.

About 6,000 acres of timber lands have been located on the Lower Puget Sound within a very short time.

Three inches of snow fell at Walla Walla, W. T., on the 28th ultimo. Sleighs and cutters were out in full force.

A party is still at work for the railroad, surveying from Strawberry Valley towards Soda Springs, Shasta county.

The run of salmon in the Sacramento is immense this fall. Great numbers are caught on the rifles near Redding.

$9,944 taxes this year, which is one-tenth the total taxation of Silver Bow county.

The Hollister Flouring Mill is running night and day on Sunday, too, and yet the demand is greater than the supply.

The Klamath Lake steamer, General Howard, has been frozen at her dock for some time, and will not be able to run until next spring.

Michael J. Silvada, a Portuguese, was drowned by the upsetting of a skiff at Bemillard's brick-yard, near Saucelito, Tuesday afternoon.

Santa Ana News.

Probably a thousand boxes of raisins were stored in the railroad depot Thursday evening, packed by McPherson Bros. for shipment to A. Lusk, San Francisco.

Oranges are now coming in rapidly to the depot for shipment to San Francisco, and as nearly every proprietor is shipping on his own account, it keeps Balcom pretty busy.

Some time since, it may be remembered, the Herald, in urging the establishment of a bank here, said that $50,000 of deposits could be relied upon at once. This sum has been deposited in the Santa Ana Valley Bank, as the result of one week's business.

A very peculiar accident happened to Mr. J. King yesterday morning. He was applying some liniment, consisting chiefly of turpentine and alcohol to his leg, which was wrapped in woolen cloths from the foot to the body. After it had been thoroughly saturated, a candle which he had upon a small stand was overturned as he was lifting his foot from the table, and all was immediately in flames. Dr. Bailey was immediately sent for and found Mr. King severely burned, the skin and flesh hanging in shreds. The Doctor hesitated for a speedy recovery, though at present the patient is a great sufferer.—Herald.

Riverside Rustlings.

A petition has been sent to Washington to have a postoffice established at Calico Mountain in this county, to be called Calico. W. G. Soule is to be postmaster.

Scarlet fever is in the settlement, and great care is being exercised that it should not unnecessarily spread. There are several cases in the east part of town. The question of closing the schools for a week or two is being agitated.

The friends of Dr. Groves and his deputies—the Misses Overtons—are urging them, in the event of losing the postoffice, to put a stock of notions and fancy goods in the building erected for the postoffice and open up. They pledge them their united trade from the opening day.—Press.

In coming down from the coal mine the other day, Mr. Paty met a number of claim holders returning to the mines, bearing with them the aggressive pick and the uncompromising shovel, by which token it may be inferred that the winter campaign has already begun.—Gazette.

The Happenings of a Day at Home and Abroad.

The Supply of Grain—A Long List of Fires, Suicides and Casualties—Fires and Fancies and Other News.

[Associated Press Dispatches.]

New York, Dec. 10th.—There is considerable difference of opinion as to the wheat prospect. The previous estimates of a short supply in the world's markets have been much modified. Recently published estimates give 226,000,000 bushels as the wants of importing countries, and 284,000,000 bushels as the surplus of exporting countries. These estimates carry certain weight, though there is a large class who are not prepared to accept them.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Burning of a Chicago Warehouse—Fatal Fire in Pennsylvania.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—The four-story brick warehouse of D. M. Osborne & Co., on South Morgan street, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning. The building was filled with reapers and machinery, on which there was an insurance of $100,000.

A HORRIBLE HOLOCAUST.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 10.—News of a terrible and shocking holocaust which occurred at Rock Out, seven miles from this city, this morning about three o'clock, by which 16 men were burned to death, and a large number fatally burned, has been received here. The fire occurred in a boarding house in which nearly fifty workmen, employees at the Davis Island dam, were boarding.

FURTHER DETAILS.

This morning's horror exceeds anything in this vicinity in some time. The boarding-house was set fire by the explosion of a lamp. Out of forty persons known to be sleeping in it only twenty-four escaped, and even they were all more or less burned, and not one of them succeeded in securing their clothes, so rapid was the progress of the flames. Others were literally roasted to death, without the possibility of an effort being made to rescue them.

FEARFUL.

The Number Burned in the Vienna Fire will reach 1,000.

VIENNA, Dec. 9.—The theatre fire was much more disastrous than at first reported. It is now feared that not many less than one thousand perished. It is probable there were six hundred in the fourth gallery, the doors of which opened inward, making escape impossible.

The passage and stairways are very narrow. The building is described as a perfect death trap. The flames filled the auditorium almost instantly, bursting from the stage in a vast sheet and rolling over the heads of the audience.

Many of the heads were found with their heads burned off, showing that the fire had swept down on the top of a densely packed mass of bodies. Many appear to have died of suffocation; while numbers bear such terrible evidences of a struggle for life, as skulls crushed, limbs distorted and broken, arms torn from the body and bowels protruding. The fire department proved totally inefficient to check the flames, although the life saving brigade did some service with ladders and nets. Much money is being subscribed for the benefit of the sufferers. Newspapers demand an inspection and, if necessary, a remodeling of all theatres before any more performances are allowed, claiming that the alleged periodical examinations of the police are a perfect fraud.

End of an Ex-Congressman.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 10.—Geo. H. B. Banning, ex-member of Congress from the Second District of Ohio, died suddenly and unexpectedly at his residence in Cumminsville this morning. He had been suffering from ill health for several weeks.

The Tariff Question.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The Post's Washington correspondent says: "Sparks, (Dem.) of Illinois, says there will be a sharp agitation of the tariff question this session. Exactly what shape the fight will take has not yet appeared."

Shot in Self-Defense.

DENVER, Dec. 10th.—Frank Linn, a notorious hard character, was fatally shot last night by a policeman on whom he made an assault while under arrest. It was done in self-defense.

Further Arrests.

TOPEKA, Dec. 19th.—Sixty more of the employees of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad were arrested to-day for fraud.

Edmunds Executed.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 10th.—Howard Edmunds was hanged to-day for the murder of his cousin and sister-in-law. He seduced the girl and then killed her to cover the crime.

Missing.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 10th.—Geo. W. Kehler, cashier of the railroad office here, has been missing since the 3d inst. It is feared he has been foully dealt with. He had in his possession a large sum of the company's money.

Suicide Suspected.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 9.—Anthony Clements, a laborer, took morphine last night—but whether with suicidal intent is not known: He was found dead in his bed this morning at the Lyon hotel.

A Boiler Burst.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 10th.—A boiler burst in the Keystone rolling mill to-day, killing one man and wounding ten. There were 300 employees in the mill, and there was a frightful scene of excitement at the time.

THE BAY'S BUDGET.

Anti-Monopoly and Mussel Slough Matters—Rains in the North.

[Associated Press Dispatches.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10th.—The Executive Committee of the Anti-Monopoly League, last night, decided to hold a State Convention, not later than next March, and put a full ticket in the field.

WILL APPEAL.

In the ejectment case of the Southern Pacific Railroad against W. L. Payot, one of the Mussel Slough settlers, the jury, by the instructions of Judge Sawyer, returned a verdict for the plaintiff. Sixty days were granted to the defendant to prepare an appeal to the United States Supreme Court. This will be a test case.

GRATEFUL RAIN.

Another rainstorm has started in the northern portion of the State, reaching down as far as Marysville. There are strong indications of rain offering here.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—A special from Brownsville, Texas, says: Isabel Almes, a noted political magnate at Chamanero, Mexico, has just committed a wholesale butchery. Going to a ranch he commenced to beat the woman there savagely, and one Guadalupe Soñati, who interfered, was killed by the infuriated desperado. At the next ranch he visited Almes shot a woman and no less than seventeen people before his murderous career was checked.

A young lady once hinted to a gentle-

"I send you a thimble, for fingers nimble,

As the hint which you gave me to buy it,
It will last you long, if it is half as strong
As the hint which you gave me to buy it."

His Calling.

A home thrust: It is related of Geo.
Clark, the celebrated negro minstrel, that being examined as a witness, he was severely interrogated by the attorney, who wished to break down his evidence.

"You are the negro minstrel business,
I believe?" inquired the lawyer.

"Yes sir," was the prompt reply.

"Isn't that rather a low calling?" demanded the lawyer.

"I don't know but what it is sir," replied the minstrel, "but it is so much better than my father's that I am very proud of it."

"What was your father's calling?"

"He was a lawyer," replied Clark, in a tone of regret that put the audience in a roar. The lawyer let him alone.

of the "Horse and West Belt," has invented another belt, so much better and cheaper, that it will supersede all other electrical appli-world to produce its equal—Physicians approve and use it. All persons suffering from Rheumatism, Nervous or General Debility, and Female Troubles of every kind, and all other Chronic Affections, will recover health in using this Belt. So cheap the poorest sufferer can buy it. Price, $5, $6, $8 to $20.

rivalled for curing Rheumatism and like dis-
